Francis William Bourdillon (1852-1921)

Francis William Bourdillon was born in Buddington, Sussex and educated at Worcester College, Oxford. He served as tutor to the sons of Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein at Cumberland Lodge for several years. He later tutored for the University of Eastbourne, and settled in Eastbourne, Sussex.

Bourdillon published thirteen collections of poetry between 1874 and 1921, as well as single poems and narrative verses, many of them privately printed in limited editions. He is best-known today for the short poem "Light" ("The night has a thousand eyes.") Among his other publications were scholarly editions and translations of Old French literature; his translation of Aucassin et Nicolette appeared in 1887 and was a popular success.

In addition, Bourdillon was a member of the Alpine Club and campaigned for the preservation of the Alps against excessive development. He died in Eastbourne in 1921.

Scope and Contents

The collection consists almost entirely of printed copies of works by Francis William Bourdillon, especially his poems and occasional verse, along with several versions of his translation of Aucassin et Nicolette. In addition, there are sketchbooks, etchings, and a photograph album containing views of the Swiss Alps.

Arrangement

Organized into four series: I. Verse and Other Publications, 1874-1921. II. Aucassin et Nicolette and Related French Romance Publications, 1880-1917. III. Other Papers, 1882-1917. IV. Oversize Material, 1880-1919.

Collection Contents

Series I: Verse and Other Publications, 1874-1921

1 linear foot (1 box)

Series I contains copies of poems by Bourdillon, chronologically arranged by date of publication, and other publications. Many of these items were privately printed or very limited editions.

Notes below some folder titles are references to A Bookman's Catalogue: The Norman Colbeck Collection of Nineteenth-Century and Edwardian Poetry and Belles Lettres in the Special Collections of the University of British Columbia. Vancouver: University of British Columbia Press, 1987. Additional bibliographic information on many items can be found in the dealer list, Box 1, folder 1.

Organized into two subseries: Verse and Other Publications. Verse is chronologically arranged, and Other Publications is in no particular order.
