CALL NUMBER: GEN MSS 1475

CREATOR: Stiles, Ezra, 1727-1795

TITLE: Ezra Stiles Papers

DATES: 1667-1991

BULK DATES: 1740-1795

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION: 40.23 linear feet (89 boxes + 3 broadside)

LANGUAGE: Chiefly in English and Latin; some materials in Hebrew or French.

SUMMARY: The Ezra Stiles Papers contain correspondence; autograph manuscript writings, many incorporating maps and drawings; personal papers and artifacts; family papers; and writings by others and printed material owned by Ezra Stiles or the Stiles family. Correspondence, 1740s-1795, consists of incoming letters, autograph manuscript copies of outgoing letters, and related family and third-party correspondence. Writings by Stiles, 1740s-1795, include research notes, drafts, and other works, with emphases on biblical scholarship and languages; New England history, church history, and population; Native American population, languages, and cultures; and astronomy, meteorology, and silk production. Other papers include diaries relating to his research and writing, 1769-1795; diaries containing notes on travel in New England and the middle-Atlantic region, 1760-1794; diaries of weather observation in Newport, Rhode Island, and New Haven, Connecticut, 1763-1795; and sermons, 1751-1789. Most materials date from Stiles's years as a minister in Newport, Rhode Island, 1755-1777, or his career at Yale as a student and tutor, 1742-1755, and as president, from 1777 until his death in 1795. Also present is a small amount of manuscripts relating to New England history or the Stiles family, 1660s-1730s; family papers, 1790s-1830s; papers of later descendants, 1840-1940s; and printed material about Stiles and the Stiles Papers, 1950s-1990s. The Papers document Stiles's career as a clergyman and educator, his intellectual interests, and his engagement with colleagues and contemporary events. The Papers are a resource for the study of Yale and New Haven history, Native Americans in New England, and colonial and American religion, education, politics, science, and intellectual and social life.

Processing Information

Stiles Bequest and Additions

Materials have been added to the Stiles Papers since acquisition of the Stiles bequest in 1805. At the time of processing in 2018, no comprehensive record of additions or removals was found. Issues of the Connecticut Gazette and Newport Mercury, 1765-1766, formerly part of the Stiles Papers, were disbound and integrated with the Yale University Library newspaper collection in 1946. Disbound covers and related notes removed from these newspapers remain in the Papers. Other printed materials owned by Ezra Stiles may be found in Yale's online catalog; possibly some of these items were removed from the Stiles Papers. Some contents of the Papers were treated by conservators during custody by Yale or possibly by former owners, including silking of fragile paper.

Editions of Stiles's literary diary and extracts from his itineraries and other papers were published during the 1900s-1930s and are widely available in research libraries. Prior to publication of A Guide to the Microfilm Edition of the Ezra Stiles Papers at Yale University in 1978, the Stiles Papers were accessed via card files and lists made by the Yale Library, including a typescript index of names and subjects annotated "Stiles Papers in Yale: Index," undated, and a typescript "Index to Illustrative Material in the Literary Diary of Ezra Stiles (vol. 1-15), prepared by Joseph W. Reed, 1957."

Microfilm Edition

In preparation for microfilming in 1978, the Stiles Papers, then classed as Ms Vault Stiles, were organized into six series: Correspondence, Itineraries, Literary Diary, Meteorological Journals, Miscellaneous Volumes and Papers, and Sermons. Contents of each series were rehoused, generally with item-level foldering. Prior to microfilming, some volumes of correspondence and other papers, including volumes apparently bound while owned by Ezra Stiles, were disbound and contents of some disbound volumes were dispersed within one or more series. Remaining bound volumes were housed in custom phase boxes. Some papers were encapsulated in mylar sealed with adhesive, including contents of the following disbound volumes rehoused in post bindings: Literary diary, volume 1; Literary Diary, volume 2; and "Observations on Silkworms and the Culture of Silk." Folders were labeled manually, and contents were identified on typescript index cards used as microfilm targets and filed in each folder or phase box. Accession information, such as immediate source of acquisition, purchase fund, and brief description, was filed with some items acquired since the Stiles bequest. Reference folders, usually containing photocopies, were created for materials related to Stiles held by Yale repositories but not part of the Papers, and as see references for materials within the Stiles Papers.

After microfilming, the Stiles Papers were accessed primarily through A Guide to the Microfilm Edition of the Ezra Stiles Papers at Yale University, which provides page-level indexing and collocates index entries with microfilm reels. For the Literary Diary Series, the Guide reproduces the index to The Literary Diary of Ezra Stiles, edited by Franklin Bowditch Dexter. (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1901), citing this published edition by volume and page. For other series, the Guide identifies items by date or microfilm item number. Some microfilmed items were also represented in the Beinecke Library's manuscript and print card catalogs, and a few of these brief descriptions were converted to online catalog records. During 1978-2018, readers were generally required to access the Papers via the microfilm, and each microfilm frame included a notice requiring permission of the Yale University Library for reproduction or publication. Materials classed as Ms Vault Stiles that were not microfilmed were accessible only by minimal box and folder labeling. These materials included disbound volume covers, some with annotations by Ezra Stiles or Abiel Holmes; autograph manuscript sermons by Naphtali Daggett (1727-1780) (Yale 1748); photocopies of materials in Ms Vault Stiles or materials held by other repositories; and curatorial records, including card files and lists predating the microfilm Guide.

Full Processing

In 2018, the Ezra Stiles Papers were reclassified as GEN MSS 1475 and reprocessed with a comprehensive collection-level description and box and folder listing. Reprocessing incorporated all materials formerly classed as Ms Vault Stiles, and integrated related materials formerly classed as Uncat Ms Vault File Stiles, Uncat Ms Vault 321, GEN MSS FILE 468, GEN MSS MISC 2986 F-1, GEN MSS MISC 3032 F-1, GEN MSS MISC 3032 F-2, Ms Vault Section 2 Drawer 1, Ms Vault Shelves North Haven, Ms Vault Shelves Yale, Z20 005 1, Z20 005 2, Z20 005 3, Z20 005 4, Z34 099, Z36 006/6, Z36 270, ZZ35 5, ZZ35 5:2, and Z117 175/3. The series organization of Ms Vault Stiles was maintained, with an additional seventh series, "Information About Ezra Stiles and the Stiles Papers." The Correspondence Series, formerly arranged chronologically, was rearranged alphabetically by correspondent name, in conformance with indexing in the microfilm Guide. Existing arrangements were maintained for other series.

The Papers were rehoused and new box and folder numbers were assigned. Existing item-level foldering and volume-level custom boxing was maintained, and manual annotations on folders relating to microfilm indexing were preserved. Index cards used as microfilm targets were discarded, and accession information, superseded card files and lists, and other curatorial records were transferred to curator's administrative files. References to items within the Papers were incorporated in the box and folder listing, and reference folders for these and for items external to the Papers were discarded. References were recorded in the box and folder listing as found on reference folders; accuracy of references was not verified. Items were removed from mylar sealed with adhesive and from post bindings. Forty-two items, with accompanying descriptions, purchased from A. S. W. Rosenbach by Mary Emma Stillman Harkness and given by Harkness to Yale in 1931, were removed from collector's bindings and integrated in the Correspondence and Miscellaneous Volumes and Papers Series; provenance was identified in file-level notes, and collector's bindings were discarded. Oversize and three-dimensional items were identified and rehoused. All fragile and silked items were referred to conservators for evaluation and treatment. Other than restricted access to fragile materials, all other access, reproduction, and publication restrictions were lifted.

The Stiles Papers are accessible through item-level listings in the finding aid and through indexes in the microfilm Guide, which provide page-level subject analysis not replicated in the finding aid. Items referenced in microfilm indexes may be found in the Papers via the following elements common to index entries and item listings: Correspondence Series: correspondent name and item date Itineraries Series: volume and page number Literary Diary Series: diary entry date, as determined from The Literary Diary of Ezra Stiles, edited by Franklin Bowditch Dexter. (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1901) Meteorological Journals Series: volume and page number Miscellaneous Volumes and Papers Series: item number (MVP #) Sermons Series: item number (SER #)

File-level descriptions of microfilmed materials were based on microfilm targets. All file-level descriptions incorporate standardized personal and corporate names, titles of published works, and subject and genre terms. For descriptive conventions specific to each series, see series-level descriptions. The following apply to all series:

Ezra Stiles (1727-1795) (Yale 1746) is generally abbreviated "ES".

Preferred sources for standard terms: Personal names, in order of preference: Library of Congress Name Authority File; Biographical Sketches of the Graduates of Yale College or Sibley's Harvard Graduates; The Stiles Family in America; or other genealogical sources. Class years for graduates of Yale, Harvard, and the College of New Jersey follow names when applicable. Corporate names: Library of Congress Name Authority File. Topical and geographic subjects: Library of Congress Subject Headings. Titles of published works: title page of first edition.

File titles, dates, and notes: Transcribed file titles are in quotation marks, with standardized spelling supplied in square brackets to facilitate keyword searching. Item-level dates conform to dates in microfilm index entries. Dates generally identify earliest date of creation and may not include later additions or annotations. Page number spans conform to microfilm index entries. Page numbers supplied by Yale Library staff prior to microfilming are in brackets. Printed materials are identified in file titles as "print," with publisher information if known. The following are noted at the file level when known: Provenance other than Stiles's bequest. Former call numbers, other than Ms Vault Stiles. Yale University Art Gallery registration numbers.

Ezra Stiles (1727-1795) (Yale 1746)

Ezra Stiles (1727-1795) (Yale 1746), minister of the Second Congregational Church, Newport, Rhode Island, 1755-1776, and the First Congregational Church, Portsmouth, New Hampshire, 1777; Yale College tutor, 1749-1755, and president of Yale College, 1777-1795. Ezra Stiles was a son of Isaac Stiles (1697-1760) (Yale 1722), minister in North Haven, Connecticut, and Kezia Taylor Stiles (1702-1727), a daughter of clergyman and poet Edward Taylor (1642-1729) (Harvard 1671), of Westfield, Massachusetts. Ezra Stiles married Elizabeth Hubbard (1731-1775) in 1757, and married Mary Checkley in 1782. Stiles and Hubbard had eight children, including Elizabeth Stiles (1758-1795); Ezra Stiles, Jr. (1759-1784) (Harvard 1778); Emilia Stiles Leavitt (1762-1833); Isaac Stiles (1763- 1795) (Yale 1783); Ruth Stiles Gannett (1765-1808); and Mary Stiles Holmes (1767-1795).

As a clergyman and educator, Stiles participated in religious and political events in New Haven, Connecticut, and New England during the 1740s-1790s; made reforms in the curriculum and governance of Yale College; conducted scientific research; and was a close observer of the American Revolution and national politics of the early United States. Stiles corresponded widely with American clergy, educators, and statesmen, and pursued scientific interests with British and European correspondents. He published sermons and orations, and was the author of diaries and other writings relating to his interests in religion, politics, education, and science.

The Ezra Stiles papers:

Ezra Stiles bequeathed a "cabinet of manuscripts containing 30 or 40 volumes" to his son-in-law, Abiel Holmes (1763-1837) (Yale 1783), with a requirement that they be deposited in Yale College ten years after Stiles's death. Holmes, married to Stiles's daughter Mary Stiles Holmes (1767-1795) and minister of the First Congregational Church in Cambridge, Massachusetts, published The Life of Ezra Stiles (Boston: Thomas & Andrews, 1798), based on the papers in his possession. Custody of the papers was transferred to Yale College in 1805. Although Stiles's will had specified storage in the "president's house," his daughter Emilia Stiles Leavitt found the papers in Connecticut Hall circa 1818, reporting to president Jeremiah Day that they were inadequately stored, some items were missing, and some materials not listed in Stiles's will had been added. Day moved the papers to the president's house in 1818, and they remained in custody of the president until eventual transfer to the Yale University Library, and later to the Beinecke Rare Book and Manuscript Library.

In the same will, Stiles bequeathed a separate "trunk of manuscripts" to his son Isaac (1763-1795) (Yale 1783). Isaac Stiles did not receive these, as he was missing at sea when his father died; he was not found, and by 1802 was presumed deceased. Contents of the trunk may have been acquired by Emilia Stiles Leavitt and Ruth Stiles Gannett, the only children of Ezra Stiles still living in 1802. Gifts from their descendants to the Yale University Library and the Beinecke Library continued from the 19th century through the 1980s, and these likely included manuscripts originally bequeathed to Isaac Stiles.

While researching The Gentle Puritan: A Life of Ezra Stiles, 1727-1795, published in 1962, Edmund S. Morgan noted missing items and additions to the original bequest, then stored in the Rare Book Room in Sterling Memorial Library. Materials integrated with the original bequest during the 20th century include a large group of Stiles and Stiles family papers donated in 1940 by Lewis Stiles Gannett (1891-1966), a great-grandson of Ruth Stiles Gannett; additional gifts of Lewis Stiles Gannett and other Stiles descendants, 1920s-1980s; Ezra Stiles correspondence and manuscripts given by Mary Emma Stillman Harkness in the 1930s; letters to Stiles and other papers relating to his presidency transferred from the Yale Treasurer's Office in the 1940s; a small amount of gifts and purchases from other sources, 1930s-1970s; and possibly additional undocumented accessions. Stiles Family papers in these accessions extended the scope of the Papers from 1795 through the 1850s. Manuscripts, printed materials, paintings, clothing, furniture, and other three-dimensional objects, relating to Stiles and the Stiles family but not part of the Stiles Papers, acquired by Yale during the 18th-20th centuries, are held by the Beinecke Library, Yale University's Manuscripts and Archives, the Yale University Benjamin Franklin Collection, and the Yale University Art Gallery.

During 1975-1978, the Yale University Library produced a microfilm edition of the Stiles Papers under the direction of Edmund S. Morgan (Yale University Sterling Professor of History, 1965-1986) and editorship of historian Harold E. Selesky (Yale 1972 PhD). The microfilm edition encompassed contents of the original bequest and additions integrated through the mid-1970s, and incorporated photocopies of additional correspondence, manuscript documents, and printed material related to Stiles that are held by Yale repositories but not part of the Stiles Papers. A Guide to the Microfilm Edition of the Ezra Stiles Papers at Yale University, edited by Harold E. Selesky (New Haven: Yale University Library, 1978), documents the history of the project and provides collection- and series-level content summaries and page-level name and subject indexing of microfilmed materials.

Following publication of the microfilm edition and index, a small amount of additional materials relating to Stiles was acquired by the Beinecke Library during the 1980s-2011. These materials, including correspondence of Ezra Stiles and papers of descendants dated through the 1940s, were integrated with the Stiles Papers during full processing of the Papers in 2018. Also during full processing, papers of clergyman and poet Edward Taylor (1642-1729), a maternal grandfather of Ezra Stiles, partially microfilmed as part of the Stiles Papers, were collocated with other Taylor manuscripts held by the Beinecke Library and reprocessed as the Edward Taylor Collection (call number Gen Mss 1476).

Scope and Contents

The Ezra Stiles Papers contain correspondence; autograph manuscript writings, many incorporating maps and drawings; personal papers and artifacts; family papers; and writings by others and printed material owned by Ezra Stiles or the Stiles family. Correspondence, 1740s-1795, consists of incoming letters, autograph manuscript copies of outgoing letters, and related family and third-party correspondence. Writings by Stiles, 1740s-1795, include research notes, drafts, and other works, with emphases on biblical scholarship and languages; New England history, church history, and population; Native American population, languages, and cultures; and astronomy, meteorology, and silk production. Other papers include diaries relating to his research and writing, 1769-1795; diaries containing notes on travel in New England and the middle-Atlantic region, 1760-1794; diaries of weather observation in Newport, Rhode Island, and New Haven, Connecticut, 1763-1795; and sermons, 1751-1789. Most materials date from Stiles's years as a minister in Newport, Rhode Island, 1755-1777, or his career at Yale as a student and tutor, 1742-1755, and as president, from 1777 until his death in 1795. Also present is a small amount of manuscripts relating to New England history or the Stiles family, 1660s-1730s; family papers, 1790s-1830s; papers of later descendants, 1840-1940s; and printed material about Stiles and the Stiles Papers, 1950s-1990s. The Papers document Stiles's career as a clergyman and educator, his intellectual interests, and his engagement with colleagues and contemporary events. The Papers are a resource for the study of Yale and New Haven history, Native Americans in New England, and colonial and American religion, education, politics, science, and intellectual and social life.

Miscellaneous Volumes and Papers, 1667-1948. VI. Sermons, 1751-1794. VII. Information About Ezra Stiles and the Stiles Papers, 1957-1991.

Collection Contents

Series I: Correspondence, 1701-1903, 1740-1795

12.22 linear feet (22 boxes)

The Correspondence Series contains incoming and outgoing letters, third-party correspondence, and Stiles family letters, including some dating after the death of Ezra Stiles. Most outgoing letters of Ezra Stiles are autograph manuscript copies made by Stiles. Multiple copies of an outgoing letter are identified and numbered in conformance with the correspondence index in A Guide to the Microfilm Edition of the Ezra Stiles Papers at Yale University. Some items identified as copies may be drafts or revisions.

Contents are arranged alphabetically by correspondent name and chronologically within each correspondent, followed by unidentified correspondents, bound volumes containing multiple correspondents, lists of correspondence, and volume covers and other materials removed from disbound volumes. Third-party letters are filed under the name of the letter writer. Locations of letters in bound volumes or appended to other letters are indicated by see references. Name forms that vary significantly from the microfilm index are indicated by references.

This material is open for research.

Series II: Itineraries, 1760-1794*2.09 linear feet (5 boxes)*

The Itineraries Series contains disbound volumes of autograph manuscript notes compiled by Ezra Stiles during travels in New England and the middle-Atlantic region. Entries include transcriptions from published and manuscript sources; notes on New England history, church history, population, and Native American inhabitants; and maps and drawings.

Contents are arranged chronologically by volume, most with disbound volume cover. Pages are generally filed in order, with the exception of some oversize or fragile pages filed separately, as indicated in file titles.

This material is open for research.

Series III: Literary Diary, 1769-1795*2.5 linear feet (14 boxes)*

The Literary Diary Series contains autograph manuscript notes, most relating to research and writing, the Second Congregational Church, Newport, Rhode Island, or Yale College. Entries include transcriptions from published and manuscript sources, and notes relating to biblical scholarship, Yale teaching and administration, and political events. Most volumes are accompanied by typescript lists of maps and drawings compiled by Yale Library staff.

Contents are arranged chronologically by volume, some with disbound volume covers. For disbound volumes, pages are generally filed in order, with the exception of some oversize or fragile pages filed separately, as indicated in file titles. Page numbering varies for some volumes: page numbers repeated within a volume are indicated by "+".

This material is open for research.

Series IV: Meteorological Journals, 1763-1795*1.46 linear feet (4 boxes)*

The Meteorological Journals Series contains disbound volumes of autograph manuscript weather records. Entries generally record observations made by Ezra Stiles in Newport, Rhode Island, or New Haven, Connecticut. Also present are notes from correspondents or other sources relating to weather in other locations.

Contents are arranged chronologically by volume, each with disbound volume cover. Pages are generally filed in order, with the exception of some oversize or fragile pages filed separately, as indicated in file titles.

This material is open for research.

Series V: Miscellaneous Volumes and Papers, 1667-1948, 1740-1795*19 linear feet (39 boxes + 3 broadside)*

The Miscellaneous Volumes and Papers Series contains autograph manuscript writings, maps and drawings, and personal papers of Ezra Stiles; Stiles family papers; and writings and drawings by others. Materials are by Ezra Stiles unless otherwise identified in file titles. Materials are in the hand of the creator unless otherwise noted.

Materials by Stiles include notes and drafts relating to his research and writing, and records of the Second Congregational Church, Newport, Rhode Island, and Yale College. Sermons by Ezra Stiles are in the Sermons Series. Materials by others include writings on similar topics, sermons, portrait drawings of Ezra Stiles and Stiles family members, and printed materials produced by colonial and early American printers. Many items by Ezra Stiles or other authors were annotated by Stiles; annotations are not identified in file titles or notes, and dates of creation generally omit later annotations.

Contents are arranged in order of item numbers assigned in chronological sequence during microfilming, indicated by "MVP #" in file titles. File titles without "MVP #" indicate materials that were not microfilmed or were acquired after microfilming. Most gaps in the "MVP #" sequence represent microfilmed materials that are not part of the Stiles Papers; for more information, see Appendix 5. Microfilmed Materials Not in Stiles Papers. A remaining few gaps consist of numbers not assigned during microfilming (MVP #557, MVP #1043, MVP #1045, and MVP #1047) or numbers not found during full processing in 2018 (MVP #1089 and MVP #1116).

The chronological sequence incorporates the following subgroups created during microfilming:

Undated Papers (Yale College Undergraduate and Tutor): papers of Ezra Stiles, probably created after his arrival at Yale College, 1742 September 9, and before his ordination, 1755 October 22.

Papers of John Hubbard (1727-1786) (Yale 1744): probably created after Hubbard was appointed minister of First Congregational Church (Meriden, Conn.), 1769 June.

Papers of John Callender (1706-1748) (Harvard 1723): undated papers, given to Ezra Stiles by Callender's wife, Elizabeth Hardin Callender, after Callender's death in 1748.

Undated Papers (Newport, Rhode Island): papers of Ezra Stiles, probably created after his ordination, 1755 October 22, and before he moved from Newport, Rhode Island, to Dighton, Massachusetts, 1776 March.

Undated Papers (Yale College President): papers of Ezra Stiles created after his appointment as president of Yale College, 1777 September, and before his death, 1795 May 12.

Papers relating to Ezra Stiles's Death: family papers, created after the death of Ezra Stiles, 1795 May 12.

Stiles Family Papers (After Ezra Stiles's Death): family papers, created after the death of Ezra Stiles, 1795 May 12.

Some contents were formerly in volumes that were disbound prior to microfilming. Disbound covers, some annotated by Ezra Stiles or Abiel Holmes, are filed in the "Undated Papers (Yale College President)" subgroup. For more information, see Appendix 3. Disbound Volumes Contents.

Series VI: Sermons, 1751-1794*1.25 linear feet (3 boxes)*

The Sermons Series contains autograph manuscript drafts, fair copies, and printed copies of sermons by Ezra Stiles. Other writings by Stiles and sermons by other authors are in the Miscellaneous Volumes and Papers Series.

Contents are arranged in order of item numbers assigned in chronological sequence by Stiles, indicated by "Stiles number" in file titles. A separate chronological sequence if item numbers assigned during microfilming is indicated by "SER #" in file titles. File titles without "SER #" indicate materials acquired after microfilming. Gaps in the "SER #" sequence represent unassigned numbers or microfilmed materials that are not part of the Stiles Papers. For more information see Appendix 5. Microfilmed Materials Not in Stiles Papers.
