CALL NUMBER: MS 315

CREATOR: Kitchelt, Florence Ledyard Cross, 1874-1961

TITLE: Florence Ledyard Cross Kitchelt papers

DATES: 1920-1947

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION: 9 linear feet

LANGUAGE: English

SUMMARY: The papers consist of correspondence, memoranda, printed material, and miscellanea relating to Florence Kitchelt's work on behalf of international peace, through the Connecticut League of Nations Association and the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, 1924-1945. Among the topics covered in the papers are Kitchelt's peace efforts in Connecticut, and related organizational goals, struggles, and activities. These papers document only Kitchelt's work in the peace movement and do not focus on many of her other social-political activities. The papers detail the levels of activity in several Connecticut towns and cities. As executive secretary of the Connecticut League of Nations Association, Kitchelt served as a source for information on regional activities.

Biographical / Historical

Florence Ledyard Cross Kitchelt was born in Rochester, New York, on December 17, 1874 to Frederick Holland and Jennie Ledyard (Wilcox) Cross. She attended Wells College in Aurora, New York, graduating in 1897 with an A.B. Throughout her early career Kitchelt was a social reform worker at a number of settlement houses in New York City and state. Immediately after college Kitchelt was a resident and volunteer worker caring for dependent and delinquent youth at the George Junior Republic in Freeville New York. She spent the next four years working for the College Settlement on the lower east side of Manhattan and its summer location in Mount Ivy, New York. In 1903 she was the head worker of an Italian American settlement called the "Little Italy House" in Brooklyn, New York. For a short time in 1904 she was a voluntary probation officer for women at the reformist Essex Market Court. From 1904 to 1905 Kitchelt worked at the Lowell House in New Haven, Connecticut.

After spending several months in Italy learning about the conditions from which her many immigrant cases came, Kitchelt returned to her hometown of Rochester, New York. In 1907 she opened "The Housekeeping Center" in an Italian neighborhood there, and the center operated under her supervision until 1910. In June 1911, she married New York socialist agitator Richard Kitchelt.

By 1915 Florence Kitchelt had become a suffragette, continuing her work when she moved to New Haven, Connecticut three years later. There she became the Citizenship Director of the Connecticut League of Women Voters in 1920, and served as the Executive Director of the Connecticut branch of the League of Nations Association (CLNA) for twenty years beginning in 1924. During 1943 she was Chairman of the Connecticut Committee for the Equal Rights Amendment, a group she supported until 1956 when she and her husband moved to Ohio to live with Florence's sister Dorothy Zeiger.

Kitchelt was also a dedicated peace activist and worked with a variety of organizations to pursue pacifist goals, including the Connecticut Council on International Relations, the National Council for the Prevention of War, and the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Throughout her lifetime, Kitchelt was an active socialist, pacifist, member of the Unitarian society, and author of several books of poetry, a prose work called The World's Work, and editor for the Rochester magazine The Common Good. She died in Wilberforce, Ohio, on April 4, 1961.

Scope and Contents

Correspondence, memoranda, printed material, and miscellanea relating to Kitchelt's work on behalf of international peace, through the Connecticut League of Nations Association and the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, 1924-45.

The papers document only Kitchelt's work in the peace movement and do not focus on many of her other socio-political activities. The papers detail the levels of activity in several Connecticut towns and cities. As executive secretary of the Connecticut League of Nations Association, Kitchelt served as a source for information on regional activities.

The Kitchelt Papers total seven and one-half linear feet (7.5') and are organized in twenty-five (25) boxes. The collection is arranged in three (3) series:

I. Connecticut League of Nations Association, 1924-1945

II. Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, 1939-1942

III. Topical Files, 1921-1947

Kitchelt selectively divided her papers by area of geographic and/or topical interest and donated these portions to various repositories. Other academic institutions with Kitchelt materials include Columbia University, Cornell University, Radcliffe College, and Smith College.

Arrangement

Arranged in three series. I. Connecticut League of Nations Association, 1924-1945. II. Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, 1939-1942. III. Topical Files, 1920-1947.

Collection Contents

Series I: Connecticut League of Nations Association, 1924-1945

Series I, Connecticut League of Nations Association contains correspondence, printed material, and miscellanea relating to Kitchelt and her work as executive director of the Connecticut branch of the League of Nations Association (CLNA). Under Kitchelt's leadership, the CLNA operated a speaker's bureau, utilized radio stations to reach the public, circulated peace petitions, organized World Court Committees in several cities, and established local offices in towns and cities throughout Connecticut. CLNA publicity material, correspondence with activists and organizers throughout Connecticut, copies of petitions and speeches, and information on foreign military and peace activities are arranged in this series. These materials focus on the topic of the peace campaign in Connecticut, but also related to the broader questions of international relations, disarmament, war, and military policy. This series is alphabetically arranged by correspondent and/or topic, and is comprised of fourteen (14) boxes, and five (5.0) linear feet.

Series II: Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, 1939-1942

Series II, Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, 1939-1942, contains correspondence, printed material, clippings, and miscellanea concerning Kitchelt's work as head of the New Haven chapter of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies (CDAAA). Publicity materials, including press releases, telegrams, and printed material, detail the efforts to generate public support to the cause, while correspondence with numerous town and city chapters in Connecticut focuses on the organizational and membership problems which confronted the CDAAA. Topical files in this series include small quantities of information on such related organizations as the America First Committee, the Associated League for a Declared War, the Fight for Freedom Committee, and the Citizens for Victory Committee.

This series contains three (3) boxes, or one linear foot (1.0') of material arranged in three sections: Office files, Topical files, and Citizens for Victory. Each section is arranged alphabetically by correspondent and/or topic.
