Stephen Vincent Benét (1898-1943) and Rosemary Benét (1900-1962)

Stephen Vincent Benét was a well known and widely read author in the United States during the 1930s and 1940s. After the success of his long poem, John Brown's Body (1928), for which he was awarded a Pulitzer Prize in 1929, he regularly published poems, short stories, and other work in popular magazines such as The Atlantic Monthly, The New Yorker, and The Saturday Evening Post. His short story, "The Devil and Daniel Webster" (1936) was awarded the O. Henry Memorial Award in 1937. In addition to poetry and short stories, he is the author of novels, book reviews, essays, radio and stage plays, screenplays, and speeches.

Rosemary Benét, born Rosemary Carr, is the author of poems, book reviews, essays, and short stories. She and her husband co-authored A Book of Americans (1933), a book of poems for children about prominent figures in American history.

Bibliographic, biographical, and critical studies on Stephen Vincent and Rosemary Benét include books by Mary Dearing Lewis (1952), Charles A. Fenton (1958), David Garret Izzo and Lincoln Konkle (2003), and Evelyn Helmick Hively (2011). Summary information is also available in the standard print and online biographical resources.

Scope and Contents

The Stephen Vincent Benét and Rosemary Benét papers consist of correspondence, manuscripts, printed material, and personal and family papers documenting the life and work of American authors Stephen Vincent Benét and Rosemary Benét. The collection spans the years 1829 to 1962, with the bulk of the collection dating from roughly 1910 to 1943.

Collection material is chiefly in English; with some material in French, German, Polish, and Swedish.

Arrangement

Organized into six series: I. Correspondence, 1887-1962. II. Family Correspondence, 1829-1962. III. Writings, 1870-1962. IV. Printed Appearances of Writings by Stephen Vincent Benét, 1916-1958. V. Printed Material, 1836-1962. VI. Personal Papers, 1843-1962.

Collection Contents

Series I: Correspondence, 1887–1962

16.18 linear feet (35 boxes)

Series I. General Correspondence consists chiefly of single letters and small groups of incoming personal and professional correspondence to Stephen Vincent Benét and Rosemary (Carr) Benét. There are letters from many English-language authors and literary critics of the first half of the twentieth century, as well as from friends, publishers, editors of journals and newspapers, literary, cultural, and civic organizations, academic institutions, and federal agencies. Larger files can be found for authors George Abbe, Paul Engle, and Robert Nathan, for Stephen Vincent Benét's biographer, Charles A. Fenton, the literary agency Brandt & Brandt, publishers Doubleday, Doran & Company and Farrar & Rinehart, and the Council for Democracy, a propaganda outlet for which Benét wrote radio scripts during World War II. Such files also exist for fellow alumni of Yale College, including John Franklin Carter and Robert E. McClure, and expats with whom Stephen Vincent and Rosemary Benét socialized while living in Paris in the 1920s. These couples include Philip and Ellen (Semple) Barry, Douglas and Emily Moore, and Richard and Alice Lee Myers. Other correspondents include Hiram Bingham, Norman Cousins, Wilbur L. Cross, John Dos Passos, Arthur Davison Ficke, John Gould Fletcher, Sinclair Lewis, Archibald MacLeish, Kenneth Patchen, Beatrix Potter, Muriel Rukeyser, Carl Sandburg, and Thornton Wilder.

Stephen Vincent Benét died March 13, 1943, and Rosemary Benét died August 18, 1962. Correspondence marked from 1944 forward in the finding aid, or reflected in a date range that ends 1944 or later, clearly indicates the presence of correspondence to Rosemary Benét. Otherwise, individual letters within mixed files and files consisting exclusively of letters to Rosemary Benét are not indicated.

The Third Party Correspondence subseries consists of the loose third party correspondence in the series. Most likely these letters came into the Benét's possession as enclosures and, over time, were separated from the original letters.

Organized into two subseries: General Correspondence and Third Party Correspondence. General Correspondence is arranged alphabetically by correspondent and chronologically within files. Third Party Correspondence is arranged alphabetically.

Series II: Family Correspondence, 1829–1962

6.05 linear feet (15 boxes)

Series II. Family Correspondence consists chiefly of letters between members of the Benét, Carr, and Rose families. There are large files of original correspondence from Stephen Vincent to his mother, Frances Rose Benét, and to his wife Rosemary, and from Rosemary to Stephen Vincent. Letters to and from in-laws are also found here, including Kathleen and Charles Gilman Norris and Elinor Wylie. The Other Family Letters subseries includes third-party letters from non-family members.

Letters to Stephen Vincent Benét from Andrew Jones, a cousin, are located in Series I. Correspondence, General Correspondence, Boxes 15-16, folders 624-638.

Organized into two subseries: General Correspondence and Other Family Letters. General Correspondence is arranged alphabetically first by correspondent (sender), then by recipient. The first correspondent (sender), for example, is Barton, Alexander, followed by Baxter, Lora. Letters are arranged chronologically within files.

Series III: Writings, 1870–1962, bulk 1909–1944

16.94 linear feet (29 boxes)

Series III. Writings includes manuscript writings of Stephen Vincent Benét, manuscript and printed works by Rosemary Benét, adaptations of work by Stephen Vincent and Rosemary Benét, and writings by others. Printed versions of writings by Stephen Vincent Benét are filed in Series IV.

The manuscripts of Stephen Vincent Benét consist chiefly of drafts and proofs of individual works. Source and research material, notes, outlines, and production-related material, such as jacket copy and book jackets, can also be found. Corrected and multiple drafts, revealing the evolution of particular texts, are common for many titles.

Benét is well known for his long poem, John Brown's Body (1928), about the American Civil War, for which he was awarded a Pulitzer Prize in 1929, and for the short story, "The Devil and Daniel Webster" (1936), for which he was awarded the O. Henry Memorial Award for best American short story in 1937. Material can be found for these two popular works, as well as for longer works and collections, such as James Shore's Daughter (1934), Selected Works (1942), and the posthumous Western Star (1943). In addition to poetry and short stories, Benét also wrote book reviews, essays, forewords and introductions, radio plays, screenplays, and speeches.

Writings of Rosemary Benét include drafts and printed versions of poems, book reviews, essays, reader reports, and short stories.

Organized into five subseries: Writings of Stephen Vincent Benét, Adaptations of Work by Stephen Vincent Benét, Writings of Rosemary Benét, Adaptations of Work by Rosemary Benét, and Writings of Others.

Series IV: Printed Appearances of Writings by Stephen Vincent Benét, 1916–1958

15.34 linear feet (16 boxes)

Series IV. Printed Appearances of Writings of Stephen Vincent Benét includes clippings of individual works, full issues of periodicals containing work(s) by Benét, and other printed versions of works.

There are examples of early work by Benét, written as an undergraduate while at Yale, but most of the work found here includes short forms published in popular American magazines and newspapers from the early 1920s until 1943. Types of work include poems, short stories, book reviews, profiles of authors, essays, and radio plays.

Organized into two subseries: Individual Titles and Other Work.
