Collection Contents

Series I: California Projects, 1926-1980

11 linear feet (11 boxes)

English

The series comprises project documents, correspondence, and reports concerning Roy Edwin Ramseier's sewage and water projects in California. Ramseier's California clients included cities, planned communities, businesses, hospitals, and private residences. There is significant documentation of projects in Valley Springs, California. Other projects include Olympic Valley (formerly Squaw Valley), California, the site of the 1960 winter Olympics.

This series contains files for organizations and places that use the oppressive and harmful term "squaw," based on their location in what was formerly known as "Squaw Valley," California, now called Olympic Valley. The use of this description is not an endorsement of the language it contains. This language has been retained to promote searchability and discoverability of the collections.
