Processing Information

Collections are processed to a variety of levels, depending on the work necessary to make them usable, their perceived research value, the availability of staff, competing priorities, and whether or not further accruals are expected. The library attempts to provide a basic level of preservation and access for all collections as they are acquired, and does more extensive processing of higher priority collections as time and resources permit.

This collection received a basic level of processing, including rehousing and minimal organization.

Information included in the Description of Papers note and Collection Contents section is drawn from information supplied with the collection and from an initial survey of the contents. Folder titles appearing in the contents list below are often based on those provided by the creator or previous custodian. Titles have not been verified against the contents of the folders in all cases. Otherwise, folder titles are supplied by staff during initial processing.

This finding aid may be updated periodically to account for new acquisitions to the collection and/or revisions in arrangement and description.

Wolf Mankowitz (1924-1988)

Cyril Wolf Mankowitz was a British author, playwright, and screenwriter. He was born in 1924 in London to Rebecca and Solomon Mankowitz and educated at Downing College (University of Cambridge), where one of his tutors was F. R. Leavis. Before beginning his career as an author and playwright, Mankowitz developed a reputation as an authority on and dealer of antique porcelain, leading to the publication of two reference books on Wedgwood.

Mankowitz's novel A Kid for Two Farthings (1953) was adapted into a film, for which he wrote the screenplay, in 1955. He also wrote the screenplay for The Millionairess (1960), which was nominated for a BAFTA award, and he was one of the screenwriters on the James Bond films Dr. No (1962) and Casino Royale (1967). Mankowitz's other novels include Make Me an Offer (1952) and My Old Man's a Dustman (1956). In 1958, he wrote the book for the musical Expresso Bongo, as well as the television script for East End, West End. His plays include The Bespoke Overcoat (1953), The Irish Hebrew Lesson (1978, 1980), and The Samson Riddle (1972, 1978). Mankowitz also published biographies of Edgar Allen Poe and Charles Dickens. His shorter works appeared in titles such as Good Housekeeping, Playboy, and the Evening Standard. In addition to writing, Mankowitz appeared on television programs and discussion panels on literature and the arts in the 1950s and 1960s.

Mankowitz married psychoanalyst Ann Seligmann in 1944, and they had four sons including Gered, a photographer best known for his portraits of Jimi Hendrix and the Rolling Stones. He moved to Ireland in 1971 and was made honorary consul to the Republic of Panama in Dublin the same year. Mankowitz died in Cork, Ireland in 1988.

Scope and Contents

The collection consists of writings, correspondence, personal papers, printed material, audiovisual and computer media, and other papers documenting the career of author, playwright, and screenwriter Wolf Mankowitz. Writings contain drafts of novels, scripts for film, theater, and television projects, and articles and essays. Included are materials relating to Dickens of London, Expresso Bongo, A Kid For Two Farthings, Make Me an Offer, The Millionairess, and My Old Man's a Dustman. Among the correspondents are Lucille Lortel, Lord Beaverbrook (Max Aitken), Art Buchwald, Richard Burton, Peter Cook, Fanny E. Holtzmann, Cecil King, Cecil Madden, Sue Mengers, John Mills, and Laurence Olivier. Personal papers contain biographies, family material, legal documents, photographs, planners and diaries, and scrapbooks relating to works written or adapted for the stage by Mankowitz. Printed material consists of clippings and posters. Also included are film and audio recordings of plays.

Arrangement

Organized into five series: I. Writings, 1944-2016, undated. II. Correspondence, 1947-2011. III. Personal Papers, 1919-2017, undated. IV. Printed Material, 1947-2007, undated. V. Audiovisual and Computer Media, 1960-2009, undated.
