Processing Information

Collections are processed to a variety of levels, depending on the work necessary to make them usable, their perceived research value, the availability of staff, competing priorities, and whether or not further accruals are expected. The library attempts to provide a basic level of preservation and access for all collections as they are acquired, and does more extensive processing of higher priority collections as time and resources permit.

This collection received a basic level of processing, including rehousing and minimal organization. Names of correspondents and dates of creation were transcribed from an inventory supplied with the collection, and have not been verified against the contents of the folders in all cases. Names, including titles of nobility and nicknames, have been minimally edited for consistency, but may not always match authorized forms of the name. Correspondence files were previously numbered and listed in loose alphabetical order, and have been re-arranged. A copy of the original inventory, which also includes a chronology of Doucet's career, is available in Box 41 for reference.

Information included in the Description of Papers note and Collection Contents section is drawn from information supplied with the collection and from a survey of the contents.

A letter from G. de Wailly dated 1835 May 25 is listed in the original inventory, but could not be found during processing.

Biographical / Historical

Camille Doucet (1812-1895) was a French dramatist, government official, and member of the Académie française. From 1853 to 1870, during the Second Empire of Napoleon III, Doucet served as the director of the Superintendance générale des théâtres, an administrative unit that oversaw the inspection of theater facilities, the nomination of theater directors, the management of music conservatories, the censorship of new works, and the allocation of state financial sponsorship. An important policy enacted by Doucet in this role in 1867 was the expansion of theatrical privileges to café-concert establishments. Doucet was named Chevalier de la Légion d'honneur in 1857, and was elected to the Académie française in 1865. In addition to serving on the Commission du dictionnaire, Doucet became the Académie's permanent secretary in 1876.

Enclosed in a small number of letters are clippings and other printed material, manuscript poems, and manuscript music scores, including by Massenet.

Also included are a small number of outgoing letters by Camille Doucet, letters addressed to Doucet's widow Emma Adelon, and letters to his daughter Antoinette Doucet and her husband, politician René Joseph Brice (1839-1921).
