Processing Information

Collections are processed to a variety of levels, depending on the work necessary to make them usable, their perceived research value, the availability of staff, competing priorities, and whether or not further accruals are expected. The library attempts to provide a basic level of preservation and access for all collections as they are acquired, and does more extensive processing of higher priority collections as time and resources permit.

Leon Katz originally organized his collection into four large groupings: Leon Katz Papers, Leon Katz-Gertrude Stein Archive, Katz's Files, and Other Materials. After receipt, library staff reviewed the housing and arrangement of the collection and made adjustments as necessary to meet collection management requirements. An archivist sorted the boxes into broader series, but made few changes to the folder-level arrangement of the archive, except where necessary to meet the library's best practices for processing manuscript collections. Library staff wrote the collection- and series-level description. Almost all description at the file level was transcribed from folder titles supplied by Katz, with minimal edits made by library staff. Titles in brackets were supplied by the archivist.

This finding aid may be updated periodically to account for new acquisitions to the collection and/or revisions in arrangement and description.

Separated Materials

Fifty books and four serial publications were removed for separate cataloging and can be accessed by searching the library's online catalog. A bibliography of these materials can be found in Appendix A.

Leon Katz (1919-2017)

Leon Katz was an American playwright, dramaturg, and Professor Emeritus of Drama at Yale University, where he was co-chair of the Dramaturgy and Dramatic Criticism department from 1981 to 1989. He was a prominent scholar of Gertrude Stein, and as a doctoral candidate in 1948, Katz uncovered a previously obscure collection of Stein's notebooks in her archives at Yale, kept while she was writing The Making of Americans (1925). His transcriptions of the notebooks, followed by extensive interviews with Stein's partner Alice B. Toklas from 1952 to 1953, were the foundation of his 1963 dissertation, "The First Making of The Making of Americans: A Study Based on Gertrude Stein's Notebooks and Early Versions of Her Novel (1902-1908)." Throughout his life, Katz continued to work on his book, The Notebooks of Gertrude Stein, which he completed days before his death in 2017.

Katz was born on July 10, 1919 in New York City to Bernard Katz and Rachel Koslow. He graduated from the City College of New York in 1940 and studied at Columbia University, where he earned an M.A. in 1946 and a Ph.D. in English and Comparative Literature in 1962.

Katz was a professor of drama for over 60 years; he taught at Carnegie Mellon University from 1968 to 1977 and the University of Pittsburgh from 1977 to 1981, where he was a leading figure in Pittsburgh's theater scene and active in local alternative theater companies such as Theater Express and the 99 Cent Floating Theatre. After retiring from Yale, he taught at the University of California Los Angeles for 12 years. In 2004, he was appointed David G. Grey Distinguished Professor of Dramaturg for PlayMakers Repertory Company at the University of North Carolina. He was recognized for his contributions to teaching with an Association for Theatre in Higher Education lifetime achievement award in 2004.

Katz wrote over 50 plays, among them original works such as The Three Cuckolds (1986), The Son of Arlecchino (1986), and Beds (2000), and adaptations from other authors and playwrights including Dracula: Sabbat, The Dybbuk, Pinocchio, and the Marquis de Sade's Justine. In 1973, he wrote an opera based on Stein's The Making of Americans with composer Al Carmines. Four of his plays were published in the anthology Midnight Plays (1992). In the field of dramaturgy, Katz was renowned for his 1984 essay "The Compleat Dramaturg." He also served as resident dramaturg at the Mark Taper Forum in Los Angeles, where he contributed work on Tony Kushner's play Angels in America (1992).

Katz was married to Sadell Kasmere, an elementary school classmate, with whom he had two sons, Elia and Frederick. He died on January 23, 2017 in Encino, California.
