Felix S. Cohen (1907-1953)

Felix Solomon Cohen (1907-1953) was a lawyer with special interest in natural resources, statehood and economic development for American territories, Indian affairs, immigration, and human rights. He received a B.A. from The City College of New York, an M.A. in philosophy from Harvard in 1927, a Ph.D. from Harvard in 1929, and a J.D. from Columbia Law School in 1931. From 1933 through 1947 he served in the Solicitor's Office of the Interior Department as an assistant solicitor, associate solicitor, and acting solicitor. Cohen drafted the Wheeler-Howard Act (also known as the Indian Reorganization Act) of 1934 and was named chief of the Indian Law Survey in 1939. He edited The Handbook of Federal Indian Law (1941), which remains a milestone in the evolution of Indian law. Cohen reentered private law practice in 1948, and handled several important pro bono cases, including lawsuits which established Native Americans' rights to vote and receive Social Security benefits in states that denied them these rights. Cohen taught at Yale University, The City College of New York, The New School for Social Research and the University of Newark (later Rutgers University). He married Lucy M. Kramer in 1931, and they had two daughters. He was an active member of several political and legal organizations, including the Institute of Living Law, the National Lawyers Guild, and the Socialist Party. He died in Washington, D.C. in 1953.

Scope and Contents

The Felix S. Cohen papers document the legal, academic, and scholarly career of Felix S. Cohen. The collection documents Cohen's work as a legislative draftsman and solicitor for the Department of the Interior, including the drafting of the Wheeler-Howard Act (also called the Indian Reorganization Act) of 1934 and the Indians Claims Commission Act and the conduct of an Indian law survey that eventually became The Federal Handbook of Indian Law. Also included are records from Cohen's time as a private attorney, when he won several significant pro bono cases establishing the civil rights of Native Americans, including Trujillo vs. Garley and Harrison vs. Laveen. Cohen's manuscript notes for the oral arguments of Trujillo vs. Garley, of which no printed record exists, are present. Also present are papers documenting Cohen's teaching career at Yale University and City College of New York, as well as his writing projects, notably Ethical Systems and Legal Ideals. Additional papers document Cohen's work with several political and legal organizations, including the Socialist Party and the Institute of Living Law. ## Private Practice Office Records

1946–1953

This section contains material from Cohen's private practice beginning in 1948. Eventually Cohen's office became the Washington, D.C. branch of the New York law firm Riegelman, Strasser, Schwarz and Spiegelberg. Additional files with material from this period can be found in the previous topical subsections of this series. Files document Cohen's work on cases concerning Native Americans and immigrants, including his work for the American Jewish Committee and New York Association for New Americans. Also included are Cohen's timesheets and daily notes from his work on particular cases.

The files have been arranged alphabetically by Cohen's folder titles, usually by name of client or legal associate.

Series II: Teaching Career, 1946–1953

1.5 linear feet (4 boxes)

Series II documents Felix S. Cohen's courses at the Yale Law School (1946-53) and in the Philosophy Department of the City College of New York (1948-53). The files include correspondence with the departments about running the course, letters to students, student papers, Cohen's lecture notes, and final exams.

Several folders of student records were restricted and moved from boxes 60 and 61 to box 59 (in the restricted papers series) during reprocessing, 2019.

See also: Box 72-74, folders 1148-87

Organized into three groupings: Material for Yale and CCNY, Yale Courses, and CCNY Courses. Because Cohen taught jurisprudence at both institutions, lecture notes which could not be specifically assigned to either Yale or CCNY have been placed at the beginning of the series. The files have been arranged by university, course, and semester

Correspondence

1938–1953

Communication with Joseph Blau, Huntington Cairns, Elizabeth Carus, The Day, William Hirsch, Mark DeWolfe Howe, Jerome Hyman, Ernest Nagel, Lester M. Nichols, Louis and Jane Roth, Charles Stein, Sidney Wallach, and Philip P. Wiener concerns Morris R. Cohen's writings. Correspondence with Eliot Cohen, Huntington Cairns, Sidney Hook, Samuel Merwin, Jerome Michael, Ernest Nagel, Lester M. Nichols, and Morris Opler focuses on Felix S. Cohen's articles. Sidney Ratner and Roscoe H. Vining ask Cohen to address various groups, while Daniel J. Bronstein, Ruth Calvin, Humbert Cofrances, Harold L. Ickes, Marjorie Merritt, Virginia Mishnun, Richard Powell, and Emanuel Rackman sought Cohen's advice on various legal questions or his help in their careers.

Many friends and colleagues Cohen corresponded with were interested in Indian affairs. People such as Ruth Muskrat Bronson, William A. Brophy, Dennis Chavez (Senator from New Mexico), Henry Cohen, Chester Faris, William Gilbert, Theodore H. Haas, John B. Hart, Harold L. Ickes, Alexander Lesser, Norman Littell, Richard Powell, Sister Providencia, Harry N. Rosenfield, and Howard M. Schott shared their opinions on Indian affairs with Cohen or sought out Cohen for his expertise. Most of the files also contain personal letters and several concern family business.

The material documents aspects of Cohen's legal career as a civil servant, private attorney, and author, as well as his social, political, and professional activities and personal and family life. Included in the addition are files stemming from Cohen's work as a legislative draftsman and solicitor for the Department of the Interior, relating especially to Indian affairs and natural resources, including the drafting of the Wheeler-Howard Act and the Indian Claims Commission Act. Also included are papers concerning his work as a private attorney after he left government service in 1947, relating to Indian affairs, immigration, and voting rights, including his manuscript notes for oral arguments in the cases of Trujillo vs. Garley and Harrison vs. Laveen (1948). It also includes files relating to Cohen's various writing projects, including Ethical Systems and Legal Ideals (1933) and The Legal Conscience (1960); and extensive files stemming from his activities with the Socialist Party and the National Lawyers Guild and other social, political, and legal organizations (circa 1930-1940), including the League for Industrial Democracy and the Institute for Living Law. Also present are some personal and family papers.

Gift of Gene Cohen Tweraser and Karen Cohen Holmes, 2007.

The addition consists of material that was stored in the basement and other areas of the Cohen residence in Washington, D. C. and that came to light after the death of Lucy Kramer Cohen in 2007.

The addition was first processed in 2007-2008. It initially received a separate finding aid with the call number WA MSS S-2602. Arrangement was largely carried out in accordance with how the initial collection (Felix S. Cohen Papers, WA MSS S-1325) was arranged. Files arrived with no discernable order and extensive re-organization was required to arrange files into series and subseries. Descriptive information at the file level is based on a basic survey of the folder contents. Descriptive information about the collection as a whole was drawn in part from the finding aid for the Felix S. Cohen Papers, WA MSS S-1325. The two collections (WA MSS S-1325 and WA MSS S-2602) were reprocessed and combined in 2019, retaining the earlier call number.

Organized into four subseries: I. Legal Career, 1930-1955. II. Writing Projects, 1927-1960. III. Organizational Affiliations, circa 1927-1940. IV. Personal Papers, 1920-1953.
