The Farwell Knapp Papers contain archival material formerly classed in YCAL MSS 116.

Farwell Knapp (1893-1942)

Farwell Knapp was born in Bridgeport, Connecticut, on November 28, 1893. He was educated at the Taft School (in Watertown) and Yale University where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Skull and Bones. After his graduation from Yale in 1916 Knapp entered Harvard University Law School. Knapp left his studies in 1917 and enlisted in the Army, where he served with the 302nd Field Artillery in France. Knapp returned to law school after the war, graduating in 1921, and was admitted to the Connecticut Bar in 1922. The following year Knapp married Helen Bayne (1896-1984) with whom he had two daughters (Emily Perkins and Elizabeth Cheney). Knapp first worked in the office of Shipman & Goodwin before he was appointed assistant tax commissioner of the state of Connecticut in 1925, a position he would hold until 1937, at which point he became a partner in the firm of Marsh, Stoddard & Day. In 1941 Knapp worked for a short time as a trust officer in the Phoenix State Bank & Trust Company before his retirement due to a heart condition. During his career Knapp also taught at the Hartford College of Law. Knapp committed suicide in 1942.

Scope and Contents

The Farwell Knapp Papers, consisting of correspondence, journals, photographs, and other papers, document the personal and professional life of Connecticut tax lawyer Farwell Knapp. Knapp's experience as a student at Yale University and Harvard University law school are recorded, including, for example, friendships with fellow alumni and his involvement with the secret society Skull and Bones. Farwell Knapp and his wife Helen Bayne Knapp's family life and friendships (including poet Phelps Putnam and painter Russell Cheney) are also represented in the papers. Knapp's journals contain entries on topics ranging from his everyday family life and health to philosophical ponderings and explicit details of sexual experiences. Knapp's career is also documented in both his own writings and contemporary publications that mention his legal cases.

Arrangement

The Farwell Knapp Papers is organized into the following four series: Correspondence, Journals, Professional Papers, and Personal Papers. Oversize material is listed at the end of the collection.

Collection Contents

Series I: Correspondence, 1907-1947

2.29 linear feet (6 boxes)

The series contains Farwell and Helen Knapp's personal correspondence dating from 1907 to 1947 and documents their relationships with family and friends.

The series is organized into two subseries: Farwell Knapp Correspondence and Helen Bayne Knapp Correspondence. Within each subseries correspondence is arranged alphabetically by correspondent. Some of Farwell Knapp's correspondence can also be found in his journals in Series II.
