Biographical / Historical

The United States Catholic China Bureau exists to foster communication and friendship with the people of China through sharing the values of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. It promotes understanding among American Catholics about the Catholic Church and the situation of Catholic communities in China. It seeks to engage the American Catholics in a new missionary partnership with Chinese Catholics.

Founded in 1989, with the encouragement of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, the Bureau is sponsored by a cross-section of Roman Catholic organizations and individuals in the United States who share its purposes and goals. The USCCB offices is at Seton Hall University in South Orange, New Jersey.

Scope and Contents

The periodicals in Series I have been transferred to the Yale Divinity Library because of space restrictions at the USCCB office, and because it was thought that the materials would be more accessible to researchers if housed at an academic library.

Series II has been established to house a growing collection of material documenting the work of the Bureau.
