Biographical / Historical

Lucie Weinstein (nee Krebs) was born in Bad Berleburg, Germany, in 1924. She was expelled from school in 1938 for being a Jew. While her parents awaited permission to emigrate to America, and fearing for the safety of their children, they sent Lucie and her brother and sister to live with the Lindheim family (Lucie's mother's sister's family) in Belgium. After two years, the children went back to Germany. Their parents, with the help of relatives in the United States, had finally obtained permission to emigrate. The family arrived in America in 1941. Almost all of the remaining members of both their immediate and extended families, who remained in Germany and elsewhere in Europe, died in the Holocaust. Lucie married Stanley Weinstein in 1951. She travelled to Japan with him and while living there, attended the Tokyo University of the Fine Arts. She later earned a Masters degree from Harvard, and a Ph.D. from Yale University, specializing in Buddhist art. She taught art history at Southern Connecticut State University for twenty-five years. In the late 1990s, Lucie worked to establish a memorial to Jewish victims from Bad Berleburg who died in the Holocaust. The monument was dedicated in Bad Berleburg in May 2000.
