CALL NUMBER: MS 1684

CREATOR: Shapiro, Celia

TITLE: Celia Shapiro papers

DATES: 1904-1967

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION: 1.5 linear feet (3 boxes)

LANGUAGE: Most of the papers are in Russian, with some Yiddish- and English-language material as well.

SUMMARY: The papers include the correspondence, writings, and memoirs of Celia Kamenetzky Shapiro and her husband, Boris Shapiro. Most of the papers are in Russian, with some Yiddish- and English-language material as well. Correspondence includes letters and postcards, primarily from the 1930s, to Celia and Boris Shapiro from friends and colleagues in Prague and Paris. Celia Shapiro's diaries and memoirs describe her journey to England, Germany, and the Soviet Union, with interesting observations on Jewish life in Germany in 1936. Writings about Celia Shapiro include book manuscripts and the memoirs of Boris Shapiro. There are also issues of various Soviet emigre publications, and photographs of the Shapiros and their associates. Celia Kamenetzky Shapiro, also known as Tsilia Savel'evna Shapiro and Tsili Kamenetskaia-Shapiro, was a young Russian, Jewish revolutionary associated with the populist Socialist Revolutionary party in the early years of the twentieth century. She emigrated to the United States prior to World War I. Shapiro returned to the USSR for a visit in 1936, writing about her trip in the New York Yiddish-language newspaper The Jewish Daily Forward.

Collection Contents

Series I: Correspondence, 1906-1967, undated

The correspondence series is arranged chronologically and consists chiefly of letters and postcards to Celia and Boris Shapiro from friends and colleagues, mostly sent from Prague and Paris. The bulk of the correspondence is from the 1930s and is written in Russian. Items of interest include a 1937 letter from V. Zenzinov discussing Russian emigres and party activities in Paris; letters in 1938 from V. Archangelsky regarding Russian emigres in Prague and mentioning prominent emigre Egor Egorovich Lazarev; 1906 letters from an official of Tobolskaya Gubernia who helped Shapiro to escape from Russia; a 1907 letter from the wife of Lenin's younger brother, Dmitry Ulianovych; and a 1941 report of the status of the Russian Socialist Revolutionary Group in New York. There is also some correspondence found in Series II and III.

Series II: Writings by Celia Shapiro, 1936-1946

The writings by Celia Shapiro consist of her diaries and memoirs, written in a mixture of Russian and English. The travel diary describes her journey in 1936 to England, Germany, and the Soviet Union, with interesting observations on Jewish life in Germany. The memoirs in letter form also make references to that trip and to other events in her past.

Series III: Writings about Celia Shapiro, 1904-1967, undated

This series consists of writings and other material about Celia Shapiro, and is divided into three sections: book manuscripts, memoirs of Boris Shapiro, and other material. The book manuscripts consist of typed and written drafts with photographs, letters, and clippings inserted into the text. The material originally contained in Binder #1 appears to be part of the written manuscript; however, it has been kept separately in its original page order. Photographs in Binder #2 have been removed to the photograph series.
