Collections are processed to a variety of levels, depending on the work necessary to make them usable, their perceived research value, the availability of staff, competing priorities, and whether or not further accruals are expected. The library attempts to provide a basic level of preservation and access for all collections as they are acquired, and does more extensive processing of higher priority collections as time and resources permit.

This collection received a basic level of processing, including rehousing and minimal organization.

Jacques Benador Gallery

In 1928, Galerie D. Benador was founded in Geneva, Switzerland by David Benador (1893-1974) and his brother Charles (1896-1943). The gallery specialized in works in by old masters, Impressionists, 19th century Barbizon and Swiss school. In 1943, David's son, Jacques Benador (1923-2010), assumed leadership of the gallery and introduced Modern and Contemporary art to the gallery's repertoire. Jacques Benador cultivated relationships with contemporary artists—particularly ones involved with surrealism and abstract art. Jacques, who had a special interest in illustrated books both as a noted publisher and as a collector, also oversaw the production of exhibition catalogs (which were designed to be held in one's hand) that often included a specially prepared text, written by well-known authors; some catalogs also included an original print (or a poster) designed by artists for the first fifty copies of the publishing run. In 1973, Jacques opened his own gallery located in the old city of Geneva under the name "Galerie Jacques Benador". After the passing of David Benador, Jacques Benador—along with his wife, Stella--supervised and directed Galerie D. Benador for several years. Galerie Jacques Benador closed its doors in 2010.
