Processing Information

This collection consists of materials formerly classed as Uncat Mss 380, Uncat Mss 1061, Uncat Mss 1264, and Uncat Mss File. In 2012, the collection received a baseline level of processing, including partial rehousing and minimal organization. The collection was reclassified under one call number, materials were organized by acquisition, and containers were renumbered in a single sequence. Most folder titles were based on information provided by the donors, while some were assigned by Library staff. Most folder titles in the Correspondence and Photographs series were updated to conform with Library of Congress name authorities. Materials laid in diaries were removed and foldered separately as accompanying material for each diary, with page numbers of original locations noted within these folders. Folder titles in series other than Diaries were not verified against contents.

In 2013, letters from Bettina Bergery and Gaston Bergery to Violet Keppel Trefusis, formerly listed in Other Acquisitions, were moved to the John Nova Phillips Papers Relating to Violet Keppel Trefusis (Gen Mss 691).

Bettina Bergery (1902-1993)

Bettina Bergery was born Elisabeth Shaw Jones on July 20, 1902, in New York City. In 1927 she settled in Paris, where she worked for fashion designers Elsa Schiaparelli, Jeanne Lanvin, and Alix Grès. In 1934 she married Gaston Bergery (1892-1974), French lawyer and member of the Chambre des députés for Seine-et-Oise, Parti républicain radical et radical-socialiste, 1928-1934, and Parti frontiste, 1936-1942. During World War II, Bettina accompanied Gaston on his appointments as ambassador of Vichy France to the Soviet Union (1941) and Turkey (1941-1945). At the end of the war, they returned to France, where Gaston was tried and acquitted by the Haute Cour de justice. Bettina Bergery continued her involvement with fashion design. Her social circle included friendships with aristocrats, fashion designers, artists, and literary figures such as Natalie Barney, Mona von Bismarck, Jean Cocteau, Salvador Dali, Daisy Fellowes, Pope John XXIII,

Alain de La Falaise, Marie Laure, Martha Gellhorn, and members of the Mdivani and von Papen families.
Bettina Bergery died in Paris on August 14, 1993.

Scope and Contents

The Bettina Bergery Papers consist of 122 volumes of diaries, 1940-1980; a small amount of other autobiographical writings and writings about fashion design; correspondence with family and friends; scrapbooks, clippings, and other printed material relating to her interests in fashion, art, and politics; photographs and photograph albums relating to the Shaw Jones family, Bergery's friendships, and diplomatic travels with Gaston Bergery; biographical material, legal documents, and other personal papers; and a small amount of drawings, other visual materials, and objects. Most materials date from circa 1920s-1990s and concern Bergery's life in Paris, fashion design, and her social circle. Some materials relating to her childhood and family in the United States are also present. Research strengths include 20th-century French fashion design; 20th century European art, literature, and politics; and Gaston Bergery's diplomatic career in Vichy France.

Arrangement

Organized into four groupings: August 2002 Acquisition, August 2002 Acquisition Addition, March 2011 Acquisition, and Other Acquisitions.

Collection Contents

August 2002 Acquisition, circa 1900-circa 1990

23.76 linear feet (63 boxes) + 1 art

Correspondence consists mostly of incoming letters from members of Bergery's social circle, with concentrations of letters from Alice De Lamar, Alain de La Falaise, Marie Laure, and Nini von Papen. Also present are letters from her sisters, Anne Jones Fuller and Jean Jones Jackson, as well as other friends from her early life in the United States. Some letters are accompanied by photographs or clippings. Circa 1 linear foot of unsorted and unidentified correspondence likely includes additional letters from individually-listed correspondents.

Autograph manuscript diaries contain detailed entries about Bergery's social life, travel, and interests in fashion, art and politics. The diaries contain extensive clippings, correspondence, and other material affixed to pages or laid in. Laid-in material has been removed and refolded separately following each diary. Other writings, autograph manuscript and typescript, include a memoir of a trip to French Equatorial Africa with Gaston Bergery, circa 1936, memoir of an undated visit to the United States, and other autobiographical fragments. Also present are clippings of articles written by Bergery for Vogue, 1950s-1970s.

Printed material consists mostly of clippings relating to Bergery's interests in fashion, art, and politics. Also present are clippings of British and French newspaper articles about Bettina and Gaston Bergery, 1930s-1940s, criticizing their conduct during World War II, some with autograph manuscript annotations by Bettina Bergery. Other materials include clippings about fashion designer Loulou de La Falaise, and a partly disassembled scrapbook of clippings about fashion designer Alix Grès, with a small amount of related photographs and drawings. Additional clippings are present in the Correspondence and Diaries subseries.

Personal papers include address and appointment books; passports and other identification papers; and biographical information, obituaries, and papers relating to the deaths of Bettina and Gaston Bergery.

Photographs are mostly images of Bettina Bergery, dating from childhood through the end of her life, including Shaw Jones family photographs, images of Bergery wearing clothes designed by Elsa Schiaparelli, and images of Bergery with friends. Photographs of Bettina and Gaston Bergery include images of travel in French Equatorial Africa, circa 1936, and photograph albums from Gaston Bergery's diplomatic posts in the Soviet Union and Turkey, 1940s. Many photographs document Bettina Bergery's social circle, with a concentration of images of Alain de La Falaise and other members of the La Falaise family. Additional photographs are present in the Correspondence subseries.

Gift of Mary M. Thacher, 2002.

Organized into nine subseries: Correspondence, Diaries, Other Writings by Bettina Bergery, Writings by Others, Printed Material, Personal Papers, Photographs, Visual Materials, and Objects.
